

Coilplus Cares for our Communities: Packing Hope and Fighting Hunger

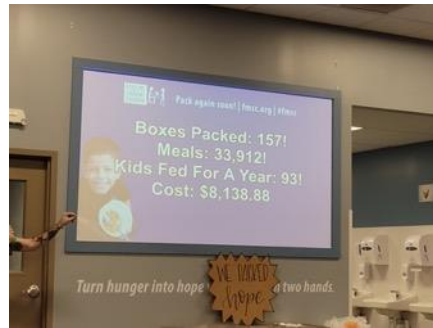

November 2022

At Coilplus, we are proud to think beyond our business and act in responsible ways that benefit our communities, employees, infrastructure, and society. That's why we've recently launched Coilplus Cares, led by our team members who engage in local volunteer opportunities that align with our values. We kicked off this initiative with two successful events in November.

Feed My Starving Children – Schaumburg, Ill.

A team of 19 volunteers from our Coilplus Illinois headquarters worked shoulder-to-shoulder with other local organizations at a Feed My Starving Children meal-packing event. This organization has long been committed to eliminating starvation in children around the world. With the help of local volunteers, they pack and send food that's been specially designed to fight hunger and malnutrition while offering hope for families.

On the night of November 17, our Coilplus Cares team helped to pack nearly 34,000 meals for children in need. Feed My Starving Children will distribute these meals to 100+ countries, where they work with local food partners to reach those who need them.

Food Drive Deliveries – Ohio

Coilplus Cares teams from both Ohio locations – Piqua and Springfield – coordinated the delivery of nearly 6,000 nonperishable items for food pantries in their communities. The Bethany Center in Piqua and Second Harvest Food Bank in Springfield will benefit from the fantastic work of our committed volunteers.

We gratefully recognize the important work of our Coilplus Cares teams, and look forward to the many ways we can support our communities by continuing to partner with worthy causes like these.
